Biographical / Historical

The student-run Columbia Daily Spectator newspaper was established in 1877 and continues publication to the present day with reportage on Columbia University and Morningside Heights. Contributions to the Spectator are open to the University community and general public, but staff is comprised primarily of undergraduate students at Columbia University. In 1962, a desire to achieve more unbiased reporting and alleviate conflicts of interest initiated the separation of operations from University sponsorship. The publication has since run independently.

Revision Description

File created. EAD was imported spring 2019 as part of the ArchivesSpace Phase II migration. 2015-01-13 2019-05-20

Conditions Governing Access

The volumes through 2015 have been digitized and should be primarily accessed via the Digital Spectator Archive: <http://spectatorarchive.library.columbia.edu/>

Restrictions on Access

This collection is located off-site. You will need to request this material at least three business days in advance to use the collection in the Rare Book and Manuscript Library reading room.

Restrictions on Access

Due to the fragile nature of newsprint, permission to view and handle original issues must be given by the University Archivist. The Spectator issues from 1877 through 2015 have been scanned and are available and fully searchable in the online Columbia Spectator Archive.

Conditions Governing Access

The digitized Columbia Spectator volumes should be used rather than the original volumes: Digital Columbia Spectator Archive.
