Biographical / Historical

---

Columbia University's Rare Book and Manuscript Library "Zines of the Greek Crisis" collection was established by the Program in Hellenic Studies in 2016. The exhibition primarily features artistic, literary, and political zines acquired from small bookstores and record shops in Athens and Thessaloniki between 2013 and 2016.

Summary

---

These materials--some published by zine veterans, others by graffiti crews or anti-capitalist collectives--convey a strong wish to destabilize mainstream crisis narratives and engage

Greece's current predicament through poetry, surrealist stories, queer theory, and a return to the fundamentals of anarchism. Beautifully designed and presented in unconventional forms, these zines of the Greek crisis, are unique publications, strategically marginal, and are not being acquired by other U.S. research libraries. This unique resource is possible to collect because visiting professor Dimitrios Antoniou has established relationships with the distributors of these materials in Greece.
