Biographical / Historical

Tsuyee Pei (Pei Tsu-yi, 貝祖貽, 字淞蓀; 1893-27 December 1982) was a renowned Chinese banker in 20th century. A native of Wu County, Jiangsu Province, Pei attended the Chengzhong Middle School in Shanghai and the Affiliated High School of Suzhou University. In 1911, Pei entered the Imperial Railway College in Tangshan, Hebei Province, one of the predecessor of the Southwest Jiaotong University in the present day. At the age of 23, Pei joined the Bank of China's head office in Peking. He was transferred to the Canton office two years later, before moving onto the Hong Kong branch where Pei began to specialize in arbitrage. After returning to mainland China in 1927, Pei ordered Bank of China branches in commerce and treaty ports to engage in foreign exchange operations. After a research trip of banking operations to Europe in 1931, Pei took on the role of manager of the Foreign Department and the Trust Department at the Bank of China. In the following years, under the leadership of T. V. Soong, Pei helped plan Chinese financial reform initiatives, including currency reforms. He spent most of the Second Sino-Japanese War in Chungking/Chongqing, where the Nationalist government was based. Pei was appointed acting general manager of the Bank of China in 1941 and, in this position, attended the 1944 Bretton Woods Conference, representing the Nationalist government. Between February 26, 1946 and February 15, 1947, he was a governor of the Central Bank of China. Pei moved to the United States in 1948. He sought support for the Nationalist government, which soon lost the Chinese Civil War and subsequently retreated to Taiwan. From 1952, Pei served as a director of C. V. Starr & Company, a holding company active in the American and Asian insurance markets. In 1959, he moved to the Shanghai Commercial Bank of Hong Kong, assuming a directorship position between 1962 and 1973. Tsuyee Pei was married to Lien Kwun until her death of cancer in 1929, and later married Aileen C. Pei in 1931. His six children included sons I. M. Pei, Y. K. Pei, Y. T. Pei and daughters Cecelia Shen, Denise Sze and Patricia Tang. Pei died at Manhattan's Lenox Hill Hospital on 27 December 1982, aged 89.

Scope and Contents

The Tsuyee Pei papers comprise of correspondences, cables and telegrams, memoranda, news clippings, printed matter, and greeting cards, dating from 1929 to 1951, bulk dating from 1943 to 1949. The bulk of career files highlight Pei's leadership the financial sector in China during the last years of WWII. There are correspondences and memoranda highlight Pei's role as the general manager of the Bank of China. The files offer great details on wartime aid and relief and international business and economic cooperation. In particular, there are reports, proceedings, and correspondences from when Pei was in the Chinese Delegation to the United States Monetary and Financial Conference at Bretton Woods in 1944. Another assemblage of files feature Pei's professional activities between 1948 and 1949, largely after Pei's arrival in the United States. There are files related to when Pei led the Technical Mission to Washington D.C. in spring 1948. Other files highlight activities about foreign exchange, international commodity market, and post-war economic reform in China. There are also letters between Pei and prominent Nationalist figures such as Kia-ngau Chang (张公权/张嘉璈), T. V. Soong (宋子文), and David Kung Ling-kan (孔令侃). Other materials include a small batch of private and family files, holiday greeting cards received likely after Pei family's arrival in the US, and various printed matter on topics of banking, commerce, finance.
