Biographical sketch

The papers (1904-1939) document many activities of the Socialist Revolutionary Party (Partiia sotsialistov-revoliutsionerov), especially of the Party's "Zagranichnaia Delegatsiia" (Foreign Delegation). The collection, which for the most part concerns the period after 1920, represents only a fraction of the entire S.R. Archive; another portion is housed at the International Institute for Social History in Amsterdam, while material deposited with the Russian Historical Archive in Prague were transferred to the USSR.

Summary

The contents of the collection include: correspondence, manuscripts, minutes of "Zagranichnaia Delegatsia" meetings from the 1920s, and financial records both from the Party organization in Russia (1908-1915) and from its Estonian and Finnish affiliates (1922). The collection's subject files are particularly rich in materials on S.R. groups in foreign countries and on Party infiltrators ("provokatory"), including E.F. Azef. The collection also contains photographs of several prominent S.R.s, including Ekaterina Breshko-Breshkovskaiia; printed materials, including the first five issues of "Sotsialist Revoliutsioner (1927-1932); and seals from the offices of the "Zagranichnaia Delegatsia." Correspondents which figure prominently in the collection are: Nikolaï D. Avksentév, Viktor M. Chernov, Ilia I. Fondaminskii, Osip S. Minor and Vladimir M. Zenzinov; there is one letter by Azef. Much of the pre-1920 correspondence is addressed to Mark A. Natanson; after 1922 a large number of the letters are addressed to Sergeï P. Rostnikov.
