Historical Note

BOMB Magazine was founded in 1981 as a medium through which artists could speak to one another freely and without boundaries about the creative process; what it meant to them as writers, actors, directors, artists and cultural commentators. The editors, being unsure of the success of this venture, named the magazine BOMB. However, the concept of providing a forum for artists to discuss art, literature, film, and fashion in print was indeed successful and the magazine has continued for over twenty-five years.

^ Return to Table of Contents

Historical Note

Located in Brooklyn, New York, BOMB Magazine is published quarterly by the small non-profit New Art Publications. The magazine has an editorial board consisting of some seventy members who are actively involved in the creative and performing arts. This organization exists financially through grants, given at the local and national level, and donations. BOMB's Art Program provides further income for the institution. Through this program, artists donate artwork to the magazine which then sells these pieces to art collectors, museums, and university galleries. Some individuals who have been involved with this program in the past are Keith Haring, William Wegman, and several artists who created publicity pieces for the popular Absolut Vodka marketing campaign.

^ Return to Table of Contents

Historical Note

Throughout the years, many notable members of the arts have conducted or been interviewed for BOMB Magazine. In addition to the interviews, BOMB staff members have reviewed literary pieces, have reproduced artwork, and have included articles on theater productions and film. Indeed, the variety of artists who have graced the pages is broad. Selected distinguished individuals include Jane Alexander, Laurie Anderson, Eric Bogosian, Jean Louis Borges, Chuck D, Willem Dafoe, Jill Eisenstadt, Spaulding Gray, Christopher Guest, Emmylou Harris, bell hooks, Jim Jarmusch, Jasper Johns, Wong Kar-Wai, Roy Lichtenstein, Robert Mapplethorpe, Joyce Carol Oates, Salman Rushdie, Quentin Tarantino, and Wallace Shawn.

^ Return to Table of Contents

Historical Note

BOMB Magazine continues to provide an in-depth look at the ways in which art is appreciated, created and sustained by those most involved: the artists.

Summary

The bulk of the collection is comprised of research and background material used by the Bomb staff to create the individual issues. These records include correspondence, interview transcripts, literary manuscripts and proofs, magazine layouts, photographs and slides of individual artists and artwork, research material, printed material, and audio and digital files. Administrative files, such as financial records, fundraising material, legal files, records concerning other Bomb publications and programs, and general business records are also held in the collection.

Collection Inventory

Series I: Administrative Records, 1981-2003

Scope and Contents

Series I holds the administrative records of Bomb Magazine. This series is arranged in three subseries: Art Program, Development and Finances, and Website.

Subseries I.1: Art Program, 1981-2003

Scope and Contents

The Art Program records document the planning and execution of this financially based initiative. The files consist of artist's biographical material, correspondence, reviews, exhibition catalogues, artist catalogues, and press clippings. Visual material is well represented in the form of photographs and slides of the individual pieces of art. Some digital files may be found in this subseries containing scanned images of artwork and word documents concerning the artists and their work. Several original pieces of artwork are held in the collection by the artists Keith Haring, William Wegman, Billy Copley, and Tina Girouard.

Subseries 3: Website, 1984-2003

Scope and Contents

This subseries documents the growth of the BOMB Website and the creation of the Online Archive and "BOMBLive!," a web-based interview series that was established in 2001. The bulk of the records are audio cassettes of online audio material used for "BOMBLive!" as well as cassettes of other published and unpublished interviews that are not associated with a particular issue. Printed matter consists of correspondence, legal records, such as contracts and release forms, exhibition and artist catalogues, and original manuscripts and magazine galleys created by author Phillip Lopate. Photographs, slides and negatives, or profiled artists and artwork are also found in this subseries.

Subseries II.2: Monographs, 1991-1998

Scope and Contents

The books are compilations of interviews based upon a specific theme, Art, Fiction and Poetry, and Theater and Film. Editor-in-Chief Betsy Sussler edited the interviews with the assistance of Suzan Sherman and Rone Shavers. Within this series is printed material, in the form of press releases, invitations to book launches, and tickets, as well as correspondence, artist forms, and financial records. Also included, in both paper and digital formats, are manuscript drafts, proofs with accompanying corrections, photographs, and advertising layouts.

Series III: Research Material, 1978-2004

Scope and Contents

This series is comprised of material that may have been used in the creation of the magazine or the BOMB books, but is not attached to any particular issue. Series III has been arranged by box number. Each box contains material that generally falls into the following categories: manuscripts and proofs of plays, novels, and essays, often with corrections and annotations; printed material, which consists primarily of other arts-based journals and magazines, exhibition catalogues, advertising pamphlets, and artist's catalogs; and photographs and slides of individual pieces of artwork, theatre productions, entire exhibitions, and artists. The documents contained in Series III show the variety of artists and artistic endeavors that BOMB editors considered when compiling potential magazine issues
