Abstract:	The Ford Foundation International Fellowships Program (IFP) offered fellowships for post-graduate study to leaders from marginalized communities in Asia, Africa, Latin America, the Middle East, and Russia from 2001-2013. Paper, digital, and audiovisual materials document the planning and administration of the program, as well as the selection, placement, and monitoring of over 4,300 Fellows that participated in the program. The records document a unique educational model that linked access to higher education, international development, and social change.

Historical Note

The Ford Foundation International Fellowships Program (IFP) was a decade-long program that offered advanced study opportunities to more than 4,300 social justice leaders from the world's most vulnerable populations in Asia, Africa, Latin America, the Middle East, and Russia. Launched with a grant from the Ford Foundation in 2001, IFP was based on an inclusive higher education model that prioritized social commitment over traditional selection criteria. In addition to academic and leadership potential, candidates were selected from groups and communities who lack systematic access to higher education. These groups included women, indigenous people, people with disabilities, and people from rural areas, among other groups.

A Secretariat in New York managed the program as a whole and set policy guidelines, while partner organizations in 23 countries managed key aspects of the program in each local context. Though IFP was a program supported exclusively by the Ford Foundation, the IFP Secretariat operated as an independent agency called the International Fellowships Fund, Inc., with its own administrative structure and Board of Directors. IFF distributed the funds provided by the Ford Foundation to partner organizations, which in turn distributed the funds to Fellows. IFF also partnered with the Institute of International Education for Fellows' university placement and financial management support, as well as office space and other administrative support for the staff of the IFP Secretariat.

Historical Note

During a one-year "Fellow-elect" period, IFP provided preparatory training and placement support to Fellows for entrance into universities. Working with local providers, the program offered pre-enrollment training on an as-needed basis in areas such as computer literacy, research skills and academic writing, as well as foreign language study. For about one-third of IFP Fellows, preparatory training continued after arrival at their host universities. During the Fellow-elect period, the selected candidates also received educational advising to help them refine their study objectives, which in turn facilitated their placement in universities.

Historical Note

Throughout their studies, Fellows maintained contact with program staff, submitting progress reports, requesting professional enhancement funds, and communicating about academic and personal issues. Program staff also provided support for "re-entry" into home countries after study was complete, and alumni organizations were often formed for networking and support. At the close of the program, IFP reported that more than 80% of IFP Alumni were living and working in their home countries or regions.

---

The IFP Secretariat was headed by Executive Director Joan Dassin. Dassin, who had previously served as the Ford Foundation's Regional Director for Latin America, coordinated the initial design process for IFP beginning in December 1999. She held the position of Executive Director from the date of IFP's formal launch in April of 2001 to its formal closing in 2013. She also served as IFP's regional director for Latin America.

Historical Note

IFP's international partners carried out the program in each of the 22 countries in which IFP operated. International partners' responsibilities included Fellow recruitment and selection, Pre-Academic Training, visa coordination for Fellows studying outside of their home countries, and monitoring Fellows' academic progress and general well-being during their graduate educations. International partners also helped to support local IFP alumni organizations which began to develop in the mid-2000s. International Partners and the countries in which they carried out IFP are as follows: Carlos Chagas Foundation (CCF), Brazil; La Fundación Equitas (EQUITAS), Chile; Institute of International Education (IIE), China and Russia; America-Mideast Educational and Training Services (AMIDEAST), Egypt and Palestine; Association of African Universities (AAU), Ghana; Center for Research on the Mesoamerica Region (CIRMA), Guatemala; United States Educational Foundation in India (USEFI), India; Indonesian International Education Foundation (IIEF), Indonesia; The Forum for African Women Educationalists (FAWE), Kenya; Center for Research and Higher Education in Social Anthropology (CIESAS), Mexico; Africa-America Institute (AAI), Mozambique and South Africa; Pathfinder International (PI), Nigeria; Instituto de Estudios Peruanos (IEP), Peru; Philippines Social Science Council (PSSC), Philippines; Association of African Women for Research and Development (AAWORD) and West African Research Center (WARC), Senegal; The Economic and Social Research Foundation (ESRF), Tanzania; Asian Scholarship Foundation (ASF), Thailand; Inter-University Council for East Africa (IUCEA) and Association of the Advancement of Higher Education and Development (AHEAD), Uganda; and Center for Educational Exchange with Vietnam (CEEVN), Vietnam.

Historical Note

IFP partnered with additional organizations and individual consultants to carry out projects including Fellow placement and education at universities around the world, program evaluation, the series of Leadership for Social Justice Institutes hosted by IFP between 2002 and 2007, and the development and maintenance of IFP's information technology infrastructure. These partners include over 100 universities worldwide with whom IFP established what the program referred to as strategic university partnerships (SUPs), based on the universities' demonstrated ability to support IFP Fellows. Other major partners include the Center for Higher Education Policy Studies at the University of Twente, the Netherlands, which conducted program evaluation and alumni surveys for IFP. Nuffic and the British Council assisted the Institute of International Education in placing Fellows at universities in Spain and Portugal and the United Kingdom, respectively. The Spring International Language Center at the University of Arkansas provided English language training for Fellows who wished to study in the United States and United Kingdom. Finally, the Advocacy Institute and School for International Training played major roles in planning and carrying out IFP's Leadership for Social Justice Institutes.

IFP staff members recognized the long-term research value of the program's records, and began working to collect and preserve them well before the program ended. Alan Divack, Senior Project Manager, Archives and Records Management, joined the Secretariat staff in 2008. Divack worked with other IFP staff members and the Board of Directors to identify records with long-term value, develop policies and procedures for gathering and preserving those records, and make arrangements with an archival repository to house the records. The Board of Directors ultimately selected the Rare Book and Manuscript Library at Columbia University for the latter role.

Historical Note

The Institute of International Education, which worked closely with IFP throughout the program, began a longitudinal study of IFP alumni in 2013 with support from the Ford Foundation. Its first report was released in April 2016. The records of this study will be added to the IFP Records when it concludes in 2023.

Summary

The International Fellowship Program of the Ford Foundation offered fellowships for post-graduate study to leaders from underserved communities in Asia, Africa, Latin America, and Russia in 2001-2013. Their archives cover the issues of social justice, community development, and access to higher education, and include paper and digital documentation and audiovisual materials on the more than 4,300 IFP fellows as well as comprehensive planning and administrative files of the program. The records of the IFP Alumni Tracking Study will be added to the Ford Foundation International Fellowships Program records when the study concludes in 2023.

Series I: New York Secretariat, 2000-2013

Scope and Contents

Series I contains paper records (145 linear feet) and digital records (over 3.5 TB) relating to the administration of IFP as a whole. The records in Series I were created and used by staff members at the IFP New York Secretariat, in partnership with local organizations which managed key aspects of the program in each local context. The Secretariat was in operation from 2001 through 2013.

Scope and Contents

Material formats included in Series I are minutes of the Board of Directors, policy records, staff and Fellow handbooks, evaluation and research papers, records of international and regional meetings, staff correspondence (which took place largely by email), and publications issued both by IFP and external organizations. Grant files document grants awarded by IFP to international partners, placement partners, and other organizations involved in carrying out IFP. Financial records include documentation of interactions between the New York Secretariat and its financial advisors—both the internal Finance and Investment Advisory Committee and the external investment groups Northern Trust and Seix Investment Advisors, which managed the program's funds. They also include documentation of the Secretariat's maintenance of nonprofit status in New York State and the United States, and routine interactions with the Internal Revenue Service and other government entities which occurred as part of IFP's maintaining legal and regulatory compliance. The media library contains photographic and video materials documenting the program. Secretariat staff members' participation in the broader community of nonprofit organizations—especially those concerned with international education—is documented to a lesser extent in these files.

Scope and Contents

Records created by the Center for Higher Education Policy Studies (CHEPS), an IFP partner which was responsible for conducting program evaluations for the duration of IFP, are also located in Series I because they were used by the Secretariat staff in administering the program. Additionally, starting in 2007, a joint survey of Alumni conducted by CHEPS and IFP was carried out annually. CHEPS digital records consist of data files from the surveys and interviews, as well as periodic summary reports. Copies of the summary reports and Secretariat correspondence with CHEPS are also located in Series I paper records. These files are particularly valuable for summary data on Fellows and for evaluating program impact.

Scope and Contents

In several cases, the records of multiple IFP Secretariat staff members are located within the same subseries. This arrangement appears to have been a natural function of the processes through which the Secretariat carried out its work, and as such, no attempt has been made to separate them. Joyce Malombe, Director for Africa and the Middle East, left her position in 2007. Her successor, Damtew Teferra, left in 2009 and was not replaced. The records created by Malombe and Teferra are physically grouped together, though their creators can largely be discerned by the dates of their creation, in addition to identifying evidence within the records themselves. The files of Ashok Gurung, Program Officer, and Rita Soni, Program Associate, are also physically grouped together, as both worked on similar projects at the Secretariat. Similarly, records created by Communications Officer Rachel Clift are mixed with those created and maintained by Director of Communications Diana Whitten, and records created by Grants Manager Barbara Wanasek are mixed with those created and maintained by Director of Finance and Administration Robert Opegard.

Scope and Contents

The bulk of the digital records of the IFP Secretariat were transferred to the Rare Book and Manuscript Library on a Columbia University Libraries-provided hard drive on September 26, 2013. Additional digital records in the series were transferred from more than 400 digital media carriers received in 2013 and 2014 in shipments of paper records from the IFP Secretariat.

Subseries I.1: International Fellowships Fund Board of Directors, 2001-2013*Scope and Contents

Subseries I.1 contains the meeting minutes of the International Fellowships Fund Board of Directors. The IFF Board of Directors was the governing body ultimately responsible for policy and financial administration for the Ford Foundation International Fellowships Program. Ambassador Donald McHenry served as the Board of Directors' chair for the duration of the program. The Board of Directors met three times per year, usually in January, May, and September, between 2001 and 2013.

Subseries I.3: Director of Finance and Administration, 2000-2014

Scope and Contents

Subseries I.3 contains records created and used by Robert Opegard, Director of Finance and Administration. Opegard was primarily responsible for managing IFP's budget, overseeing the program's investments, and administering institutional grants. As such, the bulk of Series I.3 contains financial records and grant files, as well as records of Opegard's participation in other aspects of the administration of IFP as a senior member of the Secretariat staff. Records created and used by Barbara Wanasek, Grants Manager, are also included in Subseries I.3. Wanasek joined the staff of the IFP Secretariat in 2009 and worked with Robert Opegard to administer IFP's institutional grants.

Subseries I.9: Senior Project Manager, Archives and Knowledge Management, 2008-2014

Scope and Contents

Subseries I.9 contains records created and used by Alan Divack, Senior Project Manager, Archives and Knowledge Management, between 2008 and 2014. Divack worked with other IFP staff members and the Board of Directors to identify IFP records with long-term value, develop policies and procedures for gathering and preserving those records, and make arrangements with an archival repository to house the collection. Daniel Reisner, Multimedia and Archives Officer, assisted Divack with this project.

Subseries I.10: Publications, 2001-2009

Scope and Contents

Subseries I.10 contains books, periodicals, and printed ephemera produced by IFP international partners, the Ford Foundation, and IFP itself. Also included are publications which provide background information about universities attended by IFP Fellows, as well as the broader landscapes of grant administration, international higher education, and the relationships of both to social justice. These publications were used by Secretariat staff in the administration of IFP. Where the owner of a publication or group of publications is known and it is found among other working files, it was kept in the subseries corresponding to its owner. Otherwise it was placed in Subseries I.10. Publications produced by IFP's local partners and alumni associations can be found in Series IV.

Subseries I.13: Digital Records, 2001-2013

Scope and Contents

Subseries I.13 contains digital records created and used by the IFP Secretariat in the course of administering the program. These materials were received in September 2013 and comprise over 3.5 TB of administrative and program files, a multimedia library and digitized audiovisual materials. The materials also include datasets and digital copies of reports which were generated and written by IFP's program evaluation partner, the Center for Higher Education Policy Studies (CHEPS) at the University of Twente, the Netherlands, between 2003 and 2012. The digital records of the IFP Secretariat are grouped into one subseries, rather than being distributed among the series corresponding to their creators, because the majority of the records were grouped together at the time they were transferred to the Rare Book and Manuscript Library on a single hard drive in 2013.

Series II contains archived websites created by the IFP Secretariat, many of its international partners, and some IFP alumni associations. The websites were archived by Columbia University Libraries web archivists using the Internet Archive's Archive-It software beginning in 2012. Websites which are still live and being updated continue to be crawled twice a year. Inactive websites or those which have been removed from the live web are no longer crawled by Columbia University Libraries. All archived websites can be accessed online through the Rare Book and Manuscript Library's Archive-It web page, or through the links to individual archived websites below.

Series III: IFP Alumni Tracking Study, 2013-present

Scope and Contents

Series III contains the records of the IFP Alumni Tracking Study. Launched in 2013, the IFP Alumni Tracking Study is a ten year longitudinal study of IFP alumni intended to assess the long-term impacts of the International Fellowships Program on its alumni and their communities. The study is being carried out by the Institute of International Education's Center for Academic Mobility Research and Impact, with support from the Ford Foundation. Additional records of the study will be added to the Ford Foundation IFP Records at the Rare Book and Manuscript Library as work progresses. See also Series II: Archived websites for access to archived versions of the Alumni Tracking Study's website.

Scope and Contents

Further additions are expected.

Subseries III.1: Reports

Scope and Contents

Subseries III.1 contains Alumni Tracking Study reports issued by IIE.

Series IV: IFP Countries, 2000-2013*Scope and Contents

Series IV contains the paper records (272 linear feet) and digital records (367.1 GB) of the IFP's operations in 22 countries around the world. Local partner organizations managed key aspects of each country's program. Program materials document the recruitment, selection, academic preparation, and monitoring of the Fellows; Alumni programs; publicity efforts; and program evaluations. Files for individual Fellows include their program application, academic history, application for graduate study, and progress reports. See also Series II: Archived Websites for additional materials created by partner organizations.

Scope and Contents

Paper records and a significant quantity of digital materials are only available onsite in the RBML reading room. Some materials in both digital and paper formats are closed until 2075 due to confidentiality and privacy restrictions.

Subseries IV.1: Brazil, 2000-2013*Scope and Contents

IFP in Brazil, in operation between 2002 and 2009, conducted eight rounds of selection for scholarships in partnership with the Carlos Chagas Foundation. By the time the office closed in 2013, the program graduated 306 IFP Fellows, with 270 providing consent to make a portion of their files accessible. The program in Brazil was developed in the context of an intense, ongoing national debate over affirmative action in higher education, and purposefully targeted social groups underrepresented in graduate schools. The documents are in English and Portuguese.

Subseries IV.7: India, 2000-2013*Scope and Contents

IFP launched in India in April 2001, with operations based out of the United States India Educational Foundation (USIEF) in New Delhi. The program aimed to support individuals from disadvantaged groups, including Scheduled Castes and Tribes and those living in geographically remote areas, women, and religious minority groups. After an initial all-India intake, the program concentrated on specific states including Bihar, Chhattisgarh, Gujarat, Jharkhand, Jammu and Kashmir, Madhya Pradesh, Orissa, Rajasthan, Uttarakhand, and Uttar Pradesh. Out of 323 Fellows that participated in the program, 263 consented to provide researchers access to a portion of their files. The documents are primarily in English, with some Hindi.

Subseries IV.8: Indonesia, 2000-2013

Scope and Contents

The Indonesian International Education Foundation (IIEF) served as the IFP partner in Indonesia, selecting 365 Fellows from 33 provinces between 2002 through 2010. Recipients included people from remote, conflict, and post-conflict areas, as well as indigenous people. Alumni from IFP Indonesia founded the Indonesia Social Justice Network (ISJN) in June 2006 in Jakarta. Meetings of the group have been attended by a number of IFP Alumni from India, Vietnam, Philippines, China, and Thailand. 267 Fellows consented to grant researchers access to a portion of their files. The documents are in English and Indonesian.

Subseries IV.9: Kenya, 2000-2013

Scope and Contents

IFP in Kenya was hosted by the Forum for African Women Educationalists (FAWE), a pan-African non-governmental organization working in 32 African countries to empower girls and women through gender-responsive education. Between 2001-2010 128 Kenyans were selected for fellowships; 100 Fellows consented to grant researchers access to a portion of their files. Alumni of the program joined the IFP Kenya Alumni Association, formed in 2005. The materials are in English.

The program overall was coordinated by the EQUITAS Foundation; the Institute of Peruvian Studies (IEP) assisted in implementation in Peru. Ultimately 176 people were selected for fellowships from Peru. Alumni received support from the Civil Association: Center for Social Development (CENDES), founded in 2005. Out of 363 total Fellows from the IFP AR and SC program, 271 consented to grant researchers partial access to their files. The materials are in English and Spanish.

Subseries IV.16: Russia, 2000-2012

Scope and Contents

IFP in Russia was among the four pilot programs. In October of 2000, IFP invited the Moscow office of the Institute of International Education to develop and manage the program, and it was formally launched in November 2001. Recipients were selected by an independent panel of Russian citizens. By the close of the program in 2012, 255 Fellows had been selected representing 77 regions of the Russian Federation. People who resided outside of large metropolitan areas, persons with disabilities, refugees, internally displaced persons, and individuals raised in orphanages or state-supported boarding schools were prioritized for the program. An Alumni Association of IFP in the Russian Federation was established in 2005. 141 Fellows consented to provide researchers with access to a portion of their files. The materials are in English and Russian.

Subseries IV.18: South Africa, 2000-2013

Scope and Contents

IFP in South Africa and Mozambique was coordinated by the Africa-America Institute. The program launched in 2002 and its final recruitment drive took place in 2010. Fellows selected typically aspired to work for social justice in their communities, while facing obstacles such as poverty and discrimination in their own lives. Out of 267 Fellows, 110 chose to study in South Africa; the rest pursued studies outside of the country. 182 of the Fellows consented to provide researchers with access to a portion their files. After graduating from the program, Alumni received support from the South Africa Alumni Network. The materials are in English.

Subseries IV.20: Thailand, 2000-2013

Scope and Contents

The Asian Scholarship Foundation (ASF) under the Royal Patronage of H.R.H. Princess Maha Chakri Sirindhorn was the IFP partner in Thailand. The program launched in 2003 and ultimately selected a total of 90 Fellows from the Northeast region of the country. The IFP Alumni association in Thailand, IFP THAN, was formed in 2007 to conduct research on issues particular to the Northeast, to expand partnerships, and to make an impact on the community and national levels. 73 of the Fellows consented to open a portion of their files for research. The documents are in English and Thai.
